

Als August in die Berge ging - When August went into the mountains

Blasorchester
Konzertmusik

Als August in die Berge ging

Ein Modernes Märchen

Musik: Gerhard Hafner

MUSIKVERLAG HAFNER
Musikverlag
Postfach 100
D-74400 Bietigheim-Bissingen
Tel. 07141 2000-1 Fax 07141 2000-200
http://www.musikverlag-hafner.de email: info@musikverlag-hafner.de

Als August in die Berge ging

Ein Modernes Märchen

Musik: Gerhard Hafner

MUSIKVERLAG HAFNER
Musikverlag
Postfach 100
D-74400 Bietigheim-Bissingen
Tel. 07141 2000-1 Fax 07141 2000-200
http://www.musikverlag-hafner.de email: info@musikverlag-hafner.de

Blasorchester - Konzertmusik - Als August in die Berge ging

[1-11] One day August decides to go into the mountains. [12-37] He is casually strolling the way up in a relaxed manner, poorly equipped. [38-53] The mountain top before his eyes, [54-69], he sees a short cut through a rock wall. He is climbing up t

Rating: Not Rated Yet
Price

Ask a question about this product

Description [1-11] One day August decides to go into the mountains. [12-37] He is casually strolling the way up in a relaxed manner, poorly equipped. [38-53] The mountain top before his eyes, [54-69], he sees a short cut through a rock wall. He is climbing up this difficult path, with high spirits and confident that he will reach the peak more quickly. [70-105] Now August is in a predicament. No more able to step back or forth, he is slipping on a wet spot and falling backwards down the mountain. [105-141] August is lying on a rock ledge, covered in blood and motionless. [143-151] Slowly August regains consciousness and cannot grasp that he has fallen because of his poor equipment. [152-190] A bit groggy, August wants to reach the mountain top at all costs. This time he chooses the easier ascent up the mountain. [191-197] Finally reaching the cross on the top of the mountain, August remembers his predicament in the rock. And if he has learned something from it, he will still be alive today.

// //