Description This suite describes the love story of a pest with interesting topics. At the beginning there is the flute with forest noises. The fast first part describes the bark beetle in his daily life, searching for new prey and destruction. Gradually the bark beetle recognizes that he is always alone when eating and decides to look for a female bark beetle. In a clearing between the windfall and the tree stump he sees his future "pest partner". In the future, they will be on the rampage together. And they lived happily ever after - if there was no pest control.
